Dorsey Promotes 3 Local Executives

CHARLES ELLIS

GEORGE GRIDER

BILL BRAZELTON

Dorsey Trailers has named three new sales department executives, it was announced by Joe B. DeVane, general sales manager. All are veterans in Dorsey service.

Charles G. Ellis, formerly sales promotion director, now serves as assistant office sales manager.

George Grider was advanced from special projects director to manager of office sales and Bill Brazelton, formerly a sales coordinator, now serves as assistant office sales manager.

Ellis supervises six regional managers and is responsible for sales through a nationwide network of franchised distributors who account for a large percentage of the company's volume. He joined Dorsey in 1959 following his graduation from the University of Alabama. He held positions in the purchasing and personnel departments before moving into sales and was assistant to the sales manager from 1962 until 1968.

Grider will direct the internal operations of the sales office and also be responsible for fleet operations and special projects. He is a graduate of Auburn and went with Dorsey in 1964 as an industrial engineer. A year later he transferred into special projects as assistant to the director, and was promoted to head the department three years ago.

Brazelton has been a sales coordinator since 1969, prior to which he served as an assistant purchasing agent and also in parts sales. He attended Troy State University and Auburn.

Jr. College Offering Elba Classes

Enterprise State Junior College will offer night college courses at a branch in Elba beginning Fall Quarter 1973, provided enough people in the community are interested.

Two courses will be offered each quarter with classes meeting on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 5:30 to 9:30 p.m.

Anyone interested in these courses can clip and mail to the Dean of Instruction at ESC a coupon which is attached to an advertisement elsewhere in today's issue of this newspaper.

Rescue Squad Plans Saturday Roadblock

The Elba Rescue Squad will hold a road block in Elba Saturday, throughout the day, to raise funds to match a grant released by Governor George C. Wallace recently, for the purchase of a new ambulance.

Anyone may contribute any amount," says one member of the Rescue Squad. Merchants will receive special requests for donations.

Governor Wallace advises the application was handled through the Office of Highway and Traffic Safety with the Governor's Coordinator, Robert T. Simpson, and City of Elba Councilman, Charles Ellis.

New Hope Gets More Money For Water

A check in the amount of $14,000 was presented to Mr. Donnie Egerton, Chairman of the Board of Directors of New Hope Water System, for that community to develop a central water system.

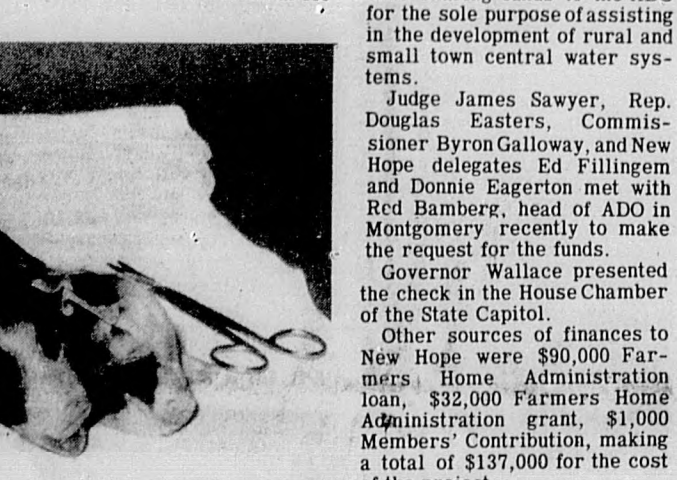

One hundred twenty families will be served by the new system.

The funds were made available through the Alabama Development Office and will be used to supplement loans and grants already approved by the Farmers Home Administration. The Governor recently approved the revenue sharing funds to the ADO for the purpose of assisting in the development of rural and small town central water systems.

Judge James Sawyer, Rep. Douglas Easters, Commissioner Byron Galloway and New Hope delegates Ed Fillingim and Donnie Egerton met with Red Bamberg, head of ADO in Montgomery recently to make the check for the funds.

Governor Wallace presented the check in the House Chamber of the State Capitol.

Other sources of funds to New Hope were $50,000 Farmers Home Administration loan, $32,000 Farmers Home Administration grant, $1,000 Members Contribution, making a total of $137,000 for the cost of the project.

Brantley Plans Gospel Singing

There will be a Gospel Singing, celebrating 10 years of Gospel Music at the Brantley Football Stadium, Brantley, Ala., on Friday, July 27, at 8 o'clock p.m.

Featured groups will be the Davis Brothers and the Way-Farers Quartet.

Tickets will be $2.00 for Adults, and $1.00 for children under 12.

Some seating will be available, but lawn chairs should be brought.

RESCUE SQUAD REPORT

The following runs were made by the Elba Rescue Squad during the period of July 16 through 24:

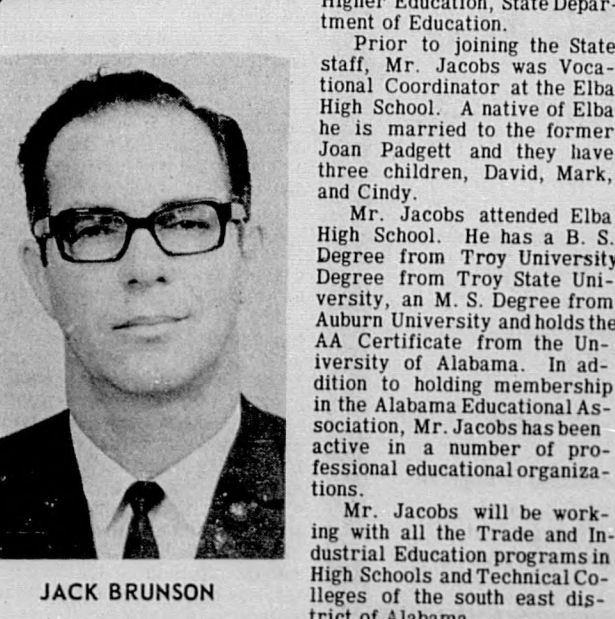

Three from home to Elba General; one from hospital to home; one to a Dothan doctor's office; two from Kleinert's; one from the Elba jail, one from a local motel, all to Elba General; two from home to Elba to Coffee General in Enterprise; one from Elba General to Coffee General; and one from a wreck off the old Samson Highway to Elba General.

Mayor Plans Meeting With Teenagers

Mayor Jack Brunson released the following statement this week:

"I am requesting those young people (entering grades 7 through 12 this year) who are interested in the continued operation of the Recreation Center to meet with me on Friday, July 27, at 7:30 p.m. in the Recreation Center. The purpose of this meeting is to informally discuss the operation of the Center and the proposed skating rink.

Although we are presently having some problems at the Center, I have enough faith and confidence in our young people to believe that everything can be worked out. This is my opinion. I'm requesting that only the young people meet with me. In an effort to encourage all interested young people to attend this meeting and take part in the discussions, parents are not being invited."

FIRE REPORT

On Monday, the Elba Fire Department answered a call from the home of Lowell Benton in Brookdale.

Grease on the stove had caught fire, but was extinguished before any damage was done, other than smoked cabinets.

COURTHOUSE CHOSEN FOR HISTORICAL REGISTER

The Coffee County Courthouse in Elba has been selected for entrance in the National Register of Historical Locations, according to the Alabama Historical Commission.

Elba has been the county seat of Coffee County since 1832. It was founded about 1840 as Bridgeton, but was changed in 1850 to Beetonville, in honor of Senator Thomas Hart Benton of Missouri, who served in Alabama in 1818-1814 during the Creek War. In December 1851 the name was again changed, and the name "Elba" was drawn from a hat during a town meeting.

The first Elba courthouse, a two-story white frame building completed in 1853, was burned by "Ward's Raiders," a band of Confederate deserters, bushwhackers and Tories in 1863. In 1867 a replacement was built, and in 1881 that building was sold and moved, and the first brick courthouse was completed in 1882. That building was then enlarged, but proved inadequate, so the present courthouse was built in 1903.

In the same year the legislature passed a law, later declared unconstitutional, establishing a branch courthouse in Enterprise. In 1907 another act was passed that made provisions for a separate judicial district centered in Enterprise and provided for branches of all principal county offices to be located there. The third and present Enterprise courthouse was built in 1924.

The Elba Courthouse is a two-story brick Romanesque structure with Richardsonian influences. It has twin towers, and a square clock tower rising between them, above the front entrance and balcony.

Letter To The Editor

July 21, 1973
Dear Mr. Editor:

In the recent letters about the police department, I would like to add a little praise to them.

One night this past week me and my children were awakened by some strange noises. They were frightened and I could not get them back to sleep. They wanted me to call someone. So I called the police department. Their response was immediately.

The two policemen that came looked the neighborhood over. They were polite and very kind. Even though there was no prowler my children felt very secure and calm and went back to sleep.

So I say, let them drive the cars and give them a bigger raise. I appreciate them.

Thank you,

BRAINSTORMS

With Ferrin Cox

The recent highly publicized case of the two young Montgomery girls who were sterilized present another opportunity for all of us "civilized people" to do some deep thinking about the proper direction for civilization. Granted there are strong arguments in favor of the practice being extended and they have some merits. But . . . who is to be the final authority for deciding who is who? If we set up a committee or board to pass on these cases, look at the damage that some mental unbalanced "Hillies" could cause as a member of members of such a committee. Naturally efforts would be made to keep that type person off the committees but a person with an obsession for that power would stop at nothing to get the position.

This week's issue of The Elba Clipper carries the report of four promotions of Elba folks that we are happy to write about. Three of the men work at Dorsey Trailers and it is good to see local folks getting these promotions. Also Charles Jacobs accepted a promotion with the state Department of education. Jacobs will not be moving from Elba, as he is assigned to a district that includes Elba.

Work is under way on the Master Plan for the Elba Airport which will clear the way for an orderly planned 20 year use of the Elba airport. It is already considered one of the best in the area and with planned extensions it should step further up the ladder. All this is fine but with the fast moving times we are living in today we need to do even more just to stay even with the world. This is only a suggestion and an ugly word to may but URBAN RENEWAL has done for Montgomery and Ozark. Elba has quite a bit of substandard housing and all these people deserve livable houses while they are fighting the cost of living and the cost of keeping up with the Joneses. I urge our City Fathers to consider asking for some federal funds to begin such a project in Elba.

While thinking about City Fathers I hope all area parents will urge their teenagers to attend the meeting with Mayor Brunson at the recreation center. The city is trying hard to provide recreation for our children but all the money in the world is no good if the children don't help.

REV EDWIN R. SELLS

The way to God is through Christ. The world will never be able to devise a means to salvation. This is not necessary; a way has been provided for us. It worked for our fathers and it will work for us. Many try to climb the ladder of self-righteousness to God, but they never make it, for he who "climbs up" some other way is a thief and a robber. (John 10:1). Christ says, "I am the way...no man cometh unto the Father, but by me" (John 14:6). It is characteristic of man to try to save himself, but this never works. Jesus is the way, the only way. The way to God is a plain way. The language of the gospel is so simple a child can understand it, and many children have been saved at an early age. One doesn't have to have a full knowledge of the gospel to become a Christian. The way to God is a narrow way. (Matt. 7:14). We must confess our sins and God forgives our sin. We come to Christ on His terms and not ours. The way to God is a broad way, as well. "Whoever will, let him take the water of life freely" (Rev. 22:17). The word "whoever" is worldwide in its scope. It takes in every individual regardless of race, nation or station in life. The way is broad enough for all who will seek to find it. "Whoever" means anybody and everybody. God promises, "When you shall search for me with all your heart...I will be found of you" (Jer. 29:13-14). The way to God is a safe way. You will not find any ruined, shipwrecked lives among those who follow him. "The angel of the Lord encampeth round about them that fear him, and delivereth them" (Ps. 34:7). The Christian will have temptations, but he will find a way of escape through the Lord. Have you found the way to God? If not, retrace these steps and claim them to be your guide. God is ready to receive you!

Sen. Sparkman Answers Questions

DEAR SENATOR SPARKMAN: I am very much disturbed about immorality on television and I have written to the Chairman of the Federal Communications Commission about this. I hope you will join in this drive to clean up the moral pollution of the air waves.

D. F. Vernon

SPARKMAN: Certainly I agree that it is important to have high quality television programming and to prevent the showing of objectionable material particularly during those times when young children usually watch television. I would like to suggest that you express your views on this subject to the presidents of the various television networks and to the commercial sponsors of any programs you find objectionable. Viewer reaction to the most effective means of controlling television programming.

DEAR SENATOR SPARKMAN: My annuity check for April 1973 took so long in arriving that I notified the Treasury Department, at which time they promptly stopped payment on it. They have not yet issued a new check and this is causing great hardship for me. Please advise me as to what can be done. J. A. Lillian SPARKMAN: The Check Claims Division of the U. S. Department of the Treasury has advised me that the check in question has been paid, and that as soon as the cancelled check is received from its storage facility, a photostatic copy will be sent to you in order that you may examine the endorsement. If the endorsement is unauthorized, a Secret Service investigation will be initiated. Action is being taken to process your claim as quickly as possible.

DEAR SENATOR SPARKMAN: How do you feel about Nixon's new Phase IV program and are we going to keep going into different wage and price control programs indefinitely? J. H. Guin SPARKMAN: I feel we came out of Phase II entirely too soon and now we need to tighten controls again through a Phase IV type program. However, time we should come out of these controls more gradually. We have to be especially careful in the area of food production. When you try to control anything at its original source, you risk cutting down on production. This is evident in the weekly drowning of thousands of baby chicks simply because it costs farmers so much to feed them. Hopefully, we can soon ease into a free market situation once again.

It would appear that the best way to reduce taxes is not to close "loopholes", but to reduce federal spending drastically, thereby permitting a substantial reduction in taxes.

First 6 Months Of 93rd Congress Sees Action Of Long-Range Consequences

SENATOR JIM ALLEN

During the first six months of the 93rd Congress a number of distinct and unrelated developments occurred which are of importance to Americans in the field of government, in our economy and in our national life.

At the top have been efforts to stabilize the Nation's economy, reduce unemployment, and combat inflation through several phases of wage and price controls and other government actions. The economy and all actions and developments which have an effect on it are of continuing paramount concern.

Also high in my judgement of noteworthy happenings are events connected with the credible and tragic Watergate revelations with the show of arrogance the obstruction of justice, the compromise of government agencies and the we are above the law attitude by high ranking members of the White House staff. It is my hope that with all of the damage done to the Presidency and the Congress, this is a need of which I have spoken often in the past, both on the floor of the Senate and in public statements.

Then of great importance is the movement of the United States Supreme Court toward the center of its rulings. I believe this has come about as a result of President Nixon's four appointments to the court. The influence of these appointments, which includes the Chief Justice has been evident in areas of aiding law enforcement, slowing down permissiveness and in giving the states more leeway in some local affairs, such as re-apportionment.

Another significant development is the legislated end of all American combat activity in Southeast Asia, by August 15th, as voted by Congress and approved by the President. This legislation was marked by a new spirit of compromise in which both the Congress and the President made major concessions in order to reach this important decision.

Then movement toward a more relaxed relationship with the Communist governments of Russia and China is another development, and probably the one that bodes the most danger to the United States. Many Americans -- and I certainly am not one of these -- are convinced that permanent world peace is at hand and we can now relax our vigilance. The fact is that the Russian goal now is precisely the same as it was many years ago when Communist leaders made it perfectly clear that their aim was to become the dominant world power.

The Russians have not suddenly turned into good guys and America cannot afford the luxury of letting our guard down. A strong national defense must continue to be our Nation's No. 1 priority.

SHE'S ONLY ASLEEP
Near a lonely churchyard not far away,
Lies the sweetest mother my Lord did create
She rocked all her darlings, Oh so sweet
My mothers not dead she's only asleep.

The stars are shining on a new grave tonight
My mother's not dead I still see her sweet smile
I can hear her laughter, yes hear her say
Get ready my little ones for the great judgement day

My mothers away from all sorrows and woe
Never to suffer no pain no more
One day I know my mother I'll see
My mothers not dead she's only asleep.

My mothers awaiting for me I know
To walk with me on the streets of pure gold and when she awakes us darlings she'll greet
No my mother's not dead she's only asleep.

Financial Aid Available To Students Attending MacArthur Tech

The Financial Aid Office at MacArthur State Technical College has announced that financial aid is available to students who qualify if they will apply immediately. Financial aid will be available in the form of grants, college work-study, and scholarships.

Students may work up to fifteen hours per week under the college work-study program. An effort is made to place students on jobs which complement their field of training. This provides the student with valuable experience in addition to their being able to earn money for costs incurred while attending MacArthur Tech.

Grants and scholarships from various sources provide funds for worthy students who cannot work but who are unable to attend school without financial assistance.

Funds are not adequate to meet the demands of all students; therefore, students who are currently enrolled and those planning to enroll in the fall are urged to apply now in order to be assured of having financial assistance available to them.

H. D. Barnes, of the Basin Community, is one of the most diversified farmers in Coffee County. Barnes is a cooperator with the Coffee County Conservation Service. COFFEE COUNTY

BY TOM CASADAY, COUNTY EXTENSION CHAIRMAN

GLENN H. CARTER, County Agent in Charlotte, North Carolina, wrote me several weeks ago about a tour that he and some of his farmers are making. They wanted to see the boll weevil monument. I also recommended to them the peanut butter manufacturing plant, the poultry processing plant, the Coffee County farm center and Dorsey and other places of interest. They will be spending about one and a half hours on tour, plus time for lunch.

When they specifically mentioned wanting to see the boll weevil monument, I was reminded of the good work that editor Roy Shoffner is doing to promote the boll weevil monument. This group from North Carolina will be with us on Tuesday, July 24. We certainly are happy to welcome these 38 farmers from North Carolina.

DEDICATION The Coffee County Farm Center office buildings and coliseum will be dedicated on Friday, August 10. The program will be held in the late afternoon. Probate Judge James Sawyer has invited Senator Jim Allen to be the principal speaker. The judge is also trying to invite a number of other state officials and adjoining county officials to visit with us for this occasion.

Mrs. Sara Hutchison, Home Agent, John Richburg of the Conservation Service, Judge Sawyer and I are serving on the dedication committee. Tentative plans call for everyone to meet in the coliseum for introductions and for the main address. Immediately after this the group will enjoy refreshments in the meeting room of one of the office buildings. Then each individual will be encouraged to visit all of the offices in the Farm Center. We hope that a large number of folks from Coffee County will take the time to come in and visit this excellent facility on this occasion.

CORN County Agent Tom Gerald of Lowndes County has written me asking for names of Coffee County farmers who will be selling for a good price this year.

HOG MARKETING PROFIT

When we have specialists visiting us from Auburn, I always like to get the latest information. I had this opportunity this week when Dan Livingston, Livestock Marketing Specialist, visited us. I asked Livingston for a suggestion on what Coffee County hog producers could do this summer to help make their business more profitable. This is what Livingston said.

"Right now with the price of hogs at the level which they have not been in several years, this would be an appropriate time to call some of your older sows and replace them with high quality gilts. The reasoning behind this is that large cul sows at the present time will move than they or replace a high quality gilt.

This will also reduce some feed usage because a gilt requires less food. However, the price of hogs in the United States will probably stay in the $30 to $40 per hundred weight for the next two years."

I saw a picture of a man holding a big snake in the Elba Clipper. This reminded me of a conversation I had with a forester in Birmingham this week. He said that in his experience he finds more rattlesnakes in the fields in August and September than in any other month. He sees more rattlesnakes in the spring of the year than any other time. According to him rattlesnakes will make an effort to get out of your way when you approach them. However, he added that a cotton mouth moccasin will often come toward you to attack you. The copperhead moccasin, though, will try to get out of the way.

For folks who are working in the woods or places where there are likely to be snakes, I would recommend the snake leggings. These leggings are very effective in preventing snake bites on the ankle and lower legs. Of course, a lot of folks are bitten on the hand as they work around junk piles and other places where snakes will take cover.

I asked the forester why rattlesnakes seem to be more active in August and September in South Alabama than in any other month, and he did not know. If anyone knows, let me know. I am sure there is a reason.

Mr. Joe Martin has had turnips, cabbage, and butterbeans, and a variety of flowers—zinnias, marigolds, and "black-eyed Susans." Peas do not flourish, due to the pecking of birds as soon as they mature.

He works the garden with his small tractor, and it hasn't had a hoe in it—he never uses one," says Mr. Martin.

"Ah, I just do it to keep the place clean," comments Mr. Martin.

COFFEE COUNTY

BY TOM CASADAY, COUNTY EXTENSION CHAIRMAN

GLENN H. CARTER, County Agent in Charlotte, North Carolina, wrote me several weeks ago about a tour that he and some of his farmers are making. They wanted to see the boll weevil monument. I also recommended to them the peanut butter manufacturing plant, the poultry processing plant, the Coffee County farm center and Dorsey and other places of interest. They will be spending about one and a half hours on tour, plus time for lunch.

When they specifically mentioned wanting to see the boll weevil monument, I was reminded of the good work that editor Roy Shoffner is doing to promote the boll weevil monument. This group from North Carolina will be with us on Tuesday, July 24. We certainly are happy to welcome these 38 farmers from North Carolina.

DEDICATION The Coffee County Farm Center office buildings and coliseum will be dedicated on Friday, August 10. The program will be held in the late afternoon. Probate Judge James Sawyer has invited Senator Jim Allen to be the principal speaker. The judge is also trying to invite a number of other state officials and adjoining county officials to visit with us for this occasion.

Mrs. Sara Hutchison, Home Agent, John Richburg of the Conservation Service, Judge Sawyer and I are serving on the dedication committee. Tentative plans call for everyone to meet in the coliseum for introductions and for the main address. Immediately after this the group will enjoy refreshments in the meeting room of one of the office buildings. Then each individual will be encouraged to visit all of the offices in the Farm Center. We hope that a large number of folks from Coffee County will take the time to come in and visit this excellent facility on this occasion.

CORN County Agent Tom Gerald of Lowndes County has written me asking for names of Coffee County farmers who will be selling for a good price this year.

HOG MARKETING PROFIT

When we have specialists visiting us from Auburn, I always like to get the latest information. I had this opportunity this week when Dan Livingston, Livestock Marketing Specialist, visited us. I asked Livingston for a suggestion on what Coffee County hog producers could do this summer to help make their business more profitable. This is what Livingston said.

"Right now with the price of hogs at the level which they have not been in several years, this would be an appropriate time to call some of your older sows and replace them with high quality gilts. The reasoning behind this is that large cul sows at the present time will move than they or replace a high quality gilt.

This will also reduce some feed usage because a gilt requires less food. However, the price of hogs in the United States will probably stay in the $30 to $40 per hundred weight for the next two years."

I saw a picture of a man holding a big snake in the Elba Clipper. This reminded me of a conversation I had with a forester in Birmingham this week. He said that in his experience he finds more rattlesnakes in the fields in August and September than in any other month. He sees more rattlesnakes in the spring of the year than any other time. According to him rattlesnakes will make an effort to get out of your way when you approach them. However, he added that a cotton mouth moccasin will often come toward you to attack you. The copperhead moccasin, though, will try to get out of the way.

For folks who are working in the woods or places where there are likely to be snakes, I would recommend the snake leggings. These leggings are very effective in preventing snake bites on the ankle and lower legs. Of course, a lot of folks are bitten on the hand as they work around junk piles and other places where snakes will take cover.

I asked the forester why rattlesnakes seem to be more active in August and September in South Alabama than in any other month, and he did not know. If anyone knows, let me know. I am sure there is a reason.

ELBA GARDENERS "GROW THEIR OWN"

With the price of food going up, hoes and tractors are coming out and going into use to make gardens around Elba. But whether it's to save money their good taste and full freer exercise or "just to keep the weeds from growing," small-time "farmers" are utilizing what space they have, to grow their good taste and full freer exercise or "just to keep

The time, patience and effort put into a garden does bring forth fruit, as evidenced by a sampling of local vegetable growers.

SPORTS

Talking briefly this week with Coach Paul Bass about Elba High School's 1973 football. Bass, who could possibly see some new wrinkles and ideas this season, Bass had his team out for the first day of practice Monday and indicated that a few positions change may take place. He also said that his team got very tired Monday, which is normal for the first workout, but was looking forward to the August 31 date with Geneva.

At the time of this writing, the Elba Dixie Youth Baseball All Stars were the only undefeated team in the Sub District Tournament being held at the Legion Field.

Troy and Elba met Tuesday night in the finals, with Marty Marlier, Elba's Mr. Everything, scheduled to pitch. Marlier, who went undefeated as a pitcher during the season in our local league, pitched a three hitter and socked a home run in the first game of the tournament against Greenville. All golf fans the week over duff their hats this week to Gene Litter, who put a happy ending to one of the great comeback stories in sports. The "Sewing Machine" won the St. Louis Classic at Norwood Hills last Sunday, his first tour victory in over two years. As a matter of fact, a year ago this time, one thought that Litter would ever play the tour again. He fought a bout with cancer of the lymph glands, and admitted after the tournament that this victory was even sweeter than his 1961 U. S. Open victory. Hats off to a very courageous person, who is back to exhibiting one of the great swings in the history of golf. Now we can begin the count down to Hank Aaron's breaking of Babe Ruth's career home runs mark. Hank hit number 700 Saturday, and is almost a sure bet to crack the barrier this season. It's interesting to see that Aaron is now 39 years old, the same age Ruth was when he hit his 716th round tripper.

The city of Kansas City recently dressed up for this week's major league All Star Game. That million dollar water spectacular is a sight to behold, something Oakland owner Charlie Finley has yet to match. And the playing facility itself is a spectacular. Not many cities have separate stadiums for their pro football and baseball teams, and none except Kansas City has separate ones. The stadium is flanked by the same parking lot. What next?

In case you are counting the days until the state's college football season begins, it kicks off with a bang on September 15 at Birmingham's Legion Field. The day's night double header will feature Auburn and Oregon State in the afternoon and Alabama against California at night.

A graduate of Zion Chapel High School, Cynthia was valedictorian of her class in high school. At TSU Cynthia plans to major in Business education. George C. GROWING NEED FOR AIRCRAFT MECHANICS

The increasing demand for licensed aircraft mechanics in Alabama and the Southeast is not being met by the number of graduates completing technical training in the aviation maintenance field. Troy Tullis, Director of the Alabama Institute of Aviation Technology, said recently.

The Alabama Institute, a State Aviation Technical College located in Ozark, maintains a placement office with job listings for FAA-licensed aircraft and Powerplant mechanics. In recent months unfilled job vacancies occurred in Bessemer, Birmingham, Mobile, and Montevallo, Ala. Ft. Lauderdale, Sebring, and Panama City, Fla. Albany and Macon, Ga., and Jackson and Madison, Mo.

In addition to job opportunities in the Southeast, the Aviation Institute received information on jobs in such varied locations as Wichita, Kan., Ypsilanti, Mich., New Brunswick, N.J., and Richmond, Va. The Aviation Employees Association in San Jose, Calif., also contacted the school to request resumes from graduating students.

A recent survey conducted by the Alabama Institute indicates that the demand for aircraft mechanics will continue to increase. Both fixed base operators and scheduled airlines anticipate a growth trend calling for additional Airframe and Powerplant mechanics. An expected employee increase of 54 per cent by 1974 was projected by fixed base operators in Alabama alone.

"Our graduates are employed by FAA-certified repair stations maintaining private and industrial executive aircraft, by scheduled airlines, and by civilian contractors maintaining military aircraft," Tullis said. "One 1972 graduate who recently returned to visit the college told us he had doubled his starting salary after one year of experience on the job. Salaries for experienced licensed aircraft mechanics have been reported as high as $9.50 and $10 an hour," Tullis said.

The Alabama Institute of Aviation Technology prepares students for careers in aircraft maintenance and for the FAA examination for the Airframe and Powerplant mechanics license through a beginning 20-month FAA-certified course in Aviation Maintenance Technology. The course is approved for veterans' training under the G. I. Bill.

Veterans with military aviation mechanics experience, and others who meet FAA experience requirements are offered an accelerated 10-month General Aviation Technology course at the technical college. This VA-approved course prepares the experienced mechanic for the FAA license examinations.

A third educational program in Advanced Maintenance and Management Technology offers licensed A and P mechanics a 9-month course covering all areas of repair station operation and management. Tuition at the State Aviation Technical College is $20 a month. A dormitory provides on-campus residence at the cost of $25 a month.

"With a minimum investment in dollars and time, a student interested in a technical occupation can prepare for a successful career in the aviation maintenance industry," Tullis said.

Persons interested in the opportunities in aviation maintenance are encouraged to contact Jimmy Holley at 897-5181 Route 3, Elba, or Robert Henry McCall at 897-4070, 211 Putnam Street, Elba.

Untreated High Blood Pressure Is A Hazard To Health

The Alabama Heart Association is expanding its educational program on the risk of heart attack and stroke posed by untreated high blood pressure, with the aim of finding "hidden cases" in Alabama and getting them under treatment.

Dr. James F. Mracek, Wetumpka, President of the Association, said that "recent studies indicate there are millions of such hidden cases across the nation. The disease has no set symptoms and just feeling good is no assurance of safety."

According to Mracek, "approximately 23,000,000 Americans are suffering from high blood pressure (hypertension), and of this number, half of those afflicted are unaware they have the condition. Recent surveys show that no more than 10-15% of patients with hypertension are receiving proper treatment."

Dr. Mracek stated that treatment is relatively simple and can, in most cases, control the disease. High blood pressure is a "silent killer," silent because there are no unique symptoms

DRIVE IN ONE LANE

A sponge wrung out in clear water, and let one side dry thoroughly before covering it or turning it over.

Take extra care not to bend or roll an inner-spring mattress. If you must move it, use a dolly. This could damage the inside construction.

HANGING BASKETS
Hanging baskets can add beauty to your home. Here are some tips on their use. If an open-type basket is used, line it to hold the soil in the container. Most baskets are lined with up to two inches of coarse sphagnum moss. Wet the moss before pressing it to the bottom and sides of the basket. After lining, fill the basket with good, loamy-textured potting soil. The soil must drain well while also holding necessary moisture for the plant. Place plants in your basket at the same depth as the soil in which they have been growing. Allow an inch or so of space to remain between the soil line and the top of the basket for watering the plant. After planting, soak an open basket in a tub of water, then hang it in position.

Since open hanging baskets are exposed to dry hot air on all sides, they dry out quickly. So, you must water them often to keep the soil moist.

UNSEALED JARS
What can cause a jar not to seal? A nick in the jar "mouth" will prevent the lid from sealing. Always wipe the jar mouth with a clean, damp cloth just before putting the lid on. Follow manufacturer's instructions for treatment of the lid before using it.

Never tighten the band (ring) on a self-sealing lid after the jar is taken from the pressure canner or waterbath canner. The lid has already begun to water. Be careful not to get the mattress wet. Rinse with water.
